Gateway Explorer's Clubs Regional Programs

1980 Website Program Description

The Gateway Explorer's Clubs are one-day programs, near your home, which provide practical and inexpensive ways to reset and reinforce the higher Focus Levels and to offer graduates of the Gateway Voyage® the opportunity to get together. They are offered by the Institute as an Extension Program and include tapes with 15 and 21 signals which are normally experienced only at the The Monroe Institute's Nancy Penn Center in Virginia.

This Program is not currently scheduled.

Gateway Explorer's Clubs Return
Gateway Graduates are Gathering Together Locally

The Gateway Explorer's Clubs are one-day programs, near your home, which provide practical and inexpensive ways to reset and reinforce the higher Focus Levels and to offer graduates of the Gateway Voyage® the opportunity to get together. They are offered by the Institute as an Extension Program and include tapes with 15 and 21 signals which are normally experienced only at the The Monroe Institute's Nancy Penn Center in Virginia.
The original Explorer's Club began years ago when I was giving workshops "on the road" before the Center was built. At that time, Gateway Graduates would come to where I was giving a workshop and ask if they could "listen to a few tapes before I broke down the equipment." Of course, I said yes, and over time I simply scheduled the "graduates" in after each workshop. This became the original Explorer's Club. We met every Sunday night for over a year and then decided to meet one full Sunday a month (so we could listen to more tapes as well as free up our Sunday nights). We did this for a number of years. These Clubs also formed in the other cities I took the Gateway workshops to. They were a great success and supported those who met regularly in their inner work. We also focused on different themes such as Remote Viewing, OBE, Guidance, Visualization, Affirmations, etc. Besides exploring and developing skills in these areas, we focused on our spiritual growth as well. It was a rich experience for those involved.
The format is simple--no overnight required.
When: Saturday (leaving Sunday for individual integration).
Where: Local retreat or conference center facilities (quiet, pleasant, with large room, near restaurant and parking).
Time: 9:00 a.m. until approximately 6 or 7 p.m. (the gathering can continue afterwards for those who would like to go to dinner together)
How: We'll all be in one room together while listening to the tapes (lying on floor). So, for your comfort, you'll want to know what to bring...
Bring: A sleeping bag, pillows, padding, and headphones. In addition, if needed, you will want to purchase a volume control as well as a stereo adapter that will allow you to plug your headphones into a standard size jack. Radio Shack has these inexpensive items.
My intention is to identify local groups throughout the country that would be interested in meeting a few times a year on an ongoing basis (occasional participants would always be welcome). I want to remain true to the original purpose of these groups which was to "serve" the interests and needs of the individuals involved. This can take many forms and can naturally evolve.
Explorers have always been a community of likeminded hearts and spirits, each sharing the quest for inner exploration and personal/spiritual growth. There is a strong bond of common interest and a quality of extended family....I am happy to offer you an opportunity to rekindle this spirit of community, to recreate that beautiful group energy and continue our explorations together. I look forward to our time together.
